Dear Mr. Warder:

On behalf of the Righteous Branch Commandment Church of God (RBCC), I would like to thank you and commend your company, Warder and Associates, Inc. for completing a magnificent reconstruction and renovation of our edifice located at 141 Xenia Street in Washington DC. The superb craftsmanship and timely coordination of the many facets involved in such a major project deserves praise.

In a business where the coordination of various contractors, subcontractors and resources is an intricate part of the timely completion of such an enormous and challenging project, it was with great confidence we worked with Warder and Associates and now enjoy the benefits of owning a newly renovated edifice.

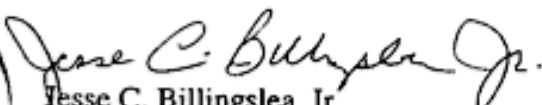

When presenting the planned strategy for the project, Warder and Associates, Inc. were very thorough when communicating with RBCC members. They assured that all questions and concerns were addressed and answered thoroughly. This personal touch convinced us that we were working with a company that was clearly interested in satisfying its customer.

Although all representatives of Warder & Associates' were very helpful, we would like to acknowledge with great appreciation the personal commitment of Mr. Sterling Hughes, Mr. Brian Sumner and Mr. Ben Yankee for working closely with inspectors to obtain required permits for the completion of this project. They were very attentive to detail and the many demands of our building campaign. Thus, as we move forward with our vision for growth and expansion, Warder & Associates will be favorably consulted at that time.

We continue to be in awe at the beautiful presentation that has been made possible by Warder and Associates, Inc. We are pleased with the results and genuinely appreciative of your personal and business support of our Christian ministry. The work completed for RBCC stands as a testament to the level of commitment offered by Warder & Associates.

Again, thank you for all your efforts in making this project such a success.

Sincerely,

Jesse C. Billingslea, Jr.
